Mariam supports clients in a wide range of industries for commercial transactions, including corporate compliance and governance, sponsorship deals, and general corporate law. Her focus includes technology transactions ranging from negotiating and drafting software, service, SaaS, and licensing contracts to general technology agreements and policies. She also advises on privacy-related matters such as data privacy agreements, internal policy drafting, and privacy notices pertaining to applicable international, federal, state, and local privacy laws.

Previous Work

Prior to joining Arent Fox, Mariam worked as Corporate Counsel at Conduent, Inc. She provided legal guidance for healthcare and technology transactions. She managed government and public sector clients with procurement processes, compliance, claims, and investigations.

Mariam also worked at Fortune 200 company as a contracts attorney. There, she handled commercial and government contracts and implemented multimillion dollar service and technology agreements.

Life Beyond the Law

Outside the office, Mariam loves to read books she can't put down, eat fantastic food, and travel over sea, under stone, and around the world.
